

HARDEST HIT FUND ADVISORY

OVERVIEW

In June of 2013, the United States Department of Treasury permitted the use of approximately $100 million of the Hardest Hit Fund for demolition of residential structures in Michigan. On August 20, 2013, Governor Snyder announced that Detroit will receive $52.2 million of the total sum for demolition. These funds give Detroit an unprecedented opportunity to make great strides towards accomplishing one of Detroit Future City's 5-year goals of stabilizing the physical conditions of its neighborhoods. Detroit Future City analyzes areas where the utilization of these funds could have the largest positive impact on the wellbeing of the entire city, according to the criteria of the program, by focusing on stabilizing Detroit's low-and moderate-vacancy neighborhoods.

DFC APPROACH

Using the DFC Strategic Framework, the DFC Implementation Office identifies areas in the city where demolition would achieve the desired goals within the Hardest Hit Fund program parameters. Part of the process is the identification of properties that will be included in the Wayne County Treasurer’s upcoming tax foreclosure auction as well as properties already owned by the City, state, and their respective land banks.

Additionally, the DFC Implementation Office works with community leaders within areas of interest to obtain information about blighted structures in their neighborhoods. The data provided by community leaders combined with Detroit Future City framework are considered by the City and State in the identification areas that will receive of Hardest Hit Fund demolition.

Moving forward, the DFC Implementation Office continues to coordinate with MSHDA, the Michigan Land Bank, the Detroit Land Bank and the Office of the Emergency Manager to provide technical assistance to the team, as well as engage with the affected communities.
